Monsoon & Summer Pet Safety Tips

Summer in Phoenix brings sunshine, extreme heat, and monsoon storms. While the season can be beautiful, it is also important to take extra precautions to stay safe and protect your home, family, and pets during the summer months.

Monsoon Season Safety Tips

Monsoon storms can arrive quickly and may bring strong winds, blowing dust, heavy rain, and localized flooding.

Before a Storm

- Secure patio furniture, umbrellas, decorations, and lightweight items on balconies or patios.
- Charge phones and electronic devices in case of temporary power outages.
- Keep flashlights and extra batteries easily accessible.
- Make sure windows and doors are fully closed when storms approach.
- Avoid parking under trees or near loose debris when possible.

During a Dust Storm

- If driving, safely pull completely off the roadway, turn off your lights, and wait for visibility to improve.
- Stay indoors and avoid going outside during high winds and blowing dust.
- Residents with allergies or respiratory conditions may want to keep windows closed and use air filtration if available.

Heavy Rain & Flooding

- Never walk or drive through flooded streets or washes. Flooding can happen quickly during monsoon storms.
- Use caution around parking lots, sidewalks, and stairways that may become slippery.
- Report any significant water intrusion or property concerns to the leasing office or maintenance team as soon as possible.

Power Outages

- Keep refrigerator and freezer doors closed as much as possible.
- Avoid using candles whenever possible and use battery-powered lighting instead.

Summer Pet Safety Tips

Phoenix summers can become dangerous for pets very quickly, especially during periods of extreme heat and humidity.

Protect Paws From Hot Pavement

Sidewalks, asphalt, and artificial turf can become significantly hotter than the air temperature.

- Walk pets early in the morning or later in the evening when temperatures are lower.
- Stay on shaded paths whenever possible.
- If the pavement is too hot for your hand after a few seconds, it is too hot for your pet's paws.

Keep Pets Hydrated

- Always provide access to fresh, cool water.
- Bring water along during walks or outdoor activities.
- Watch for signs of dehydration such as excessive panting, lethargy, or dry gums.

Never Leave Pets in Vehicles

Vehicle temperatures can rise dangerously within minutes during Arizona summers, even with windows cracked.

- Never leave pets unattended in a parked car.
- Plan errands so pets can remain safely indoors whenever possible.

Balcony & Patio Safety

Balconies and patios can become extremely hot during the summer months and may not provide adequate cooling or protection from the heat.

- Pets should not be left unattended on balconies or patios during periods of high heat.
- Be mindful that concrete, turf, and outdoor surfaces may become dangerously hot.
- During monsoon storms, strong winds and blowing debris can also create unsafe conditions for pets outdoors.

Watch for Signs of Heat Illness

Signs of overheating in pets may include:

- Heavy panting
- Weakness or difficulty walking
- Vomiting
- Excessive drooling
- Bright red gums or tongue

If you believe your pet may be overheating, move them to a cool area immediately and contact a veterinarian. A little preparation during the summer months can help everyone in the community stay safer and more comfortable all season long.

Summertime at your Community Pool

- Follow the posted rules. We have rules posted inside the pool area. The rules ensure a safe, enjoyable environment for everyone so it's important to read, understand, and follow them. If you have guests, make sure they follow the rules, as well.
- For the safety of all residents and guests, please do not prop open pool gates at any time. Open or unsecured gates can allow small children to enter the pool area unsupervised, creating a serious drowning risk. Please make sure gates fully close behind you each time you enter or exit the pool area.
- Clean up after yourself. Glass bottles and alcohol are prohibited. You may bring snacks and refreshments, but don't leave wrappers, cans, or other debris behind; make sure to dispose of it properly in the nearest garbage or recycling bin.
- Don't share your pool access. The swimming pool is for residents. Inviting friends over is acceptable; there is a two guest limit per resident.
- Don't save too many chairs. It's generally frowned upon to save more than one or two extra chairs for your friends who haven't arrived yet.
- Make sure to have fun safely. Splashing and fun are allowed, but make sure that you and your guests aren't getting too rowdy or disturbing other people.
- Turn down the tunes. Not everyone wants to hear your playlist. Keep it low, and remember that young adults might be at the pool, as well, so songs with a lot of profanity might not be appreciated.

With the long, sunny days of summer just starting to unfold, another fun-filled season is upon us! By making sure you're following community rules and keeping pool etiquette in mind, you can help make sure your swimming pool remains a welcoming environment all summer long. Thank you.
