

Community Fee Guide

Welcome! We're glad you're here. To promote clarity and transparency, this Community Fee Guide outlines fees that may apply to current or prospective residents. The information below is intended to help you understand potential one-time and recurring costs associated with your rental home. To estimate your total monthly payment, combine your base rent with applicable Essentials and any optional Personalized Add-Ons you choose. Not all fees apply to all residents. If you have questions or would like additional information, our Leasing Team is happy to assist. Please stop by, call, or send us a message — we look forward to helping you.

Community Fee Guide – General Footnotes

This Community Fee Guide is provided for informational purposes only and does not modify or amend the lease agreement. In the event of any inconsistency, the lease agreement governs. All fees, charges, deposits, and premiums are subject to the terms of the application and/or lease agreement. Additional fees may apply in specific circumstances as permitted by the lease agreement and applicable law. Not all fees apply to all residents. Unless a fee is expressly identified as refundable, all fees are non-refundable. Security deposit amounts, including any additional deposit required based on screening results, will not exceed limits set by applicable law and are held and applied in accordance with the lease agreement. Residents may be required to maintain renters' liability insurance as specified in the lease agreement. Residents may be responsible for establishing, maintaining, and paying for certain utility or service accounts, including electricity, water/sewer, gas, internet, and other services, as described in the lease agreement. Usage-based charges vary based on actual consumption. Residents are responsible for damages exceeding ordinary wear and tear, as documented through move-in and move-out inspections conducted in accordance with the lease agreement. Applicable taxes may be added to certain fees or charges as required by law. Fees are payable to the property unless otherwise indicated by an asterisk (*), in which case charges may be assessed by or paid to a third-party provider.
