Tips to Save Money on Holiday Shopping

From planning purchases to shipping them, there are plenty of opportunities for saving money during the holiday season.

Holiday shopping rarely comes without stress. From navigating crowded stores and scavenging for high-demand products to scrambling for last-minute gifts and dealing with shipping delays, the entire process can feel like an episode of retail-themed Survivor. Additionally, the financial burden from holiday shopping can add to the stress while also feeling impossible to avoid.

Help is on the way! Let us show you how to save money on holiday shopping and feel more in control of your expenses. We tapped experts in finance and shopping for their best tips to save money during the holidays so you can gift yourself a little less stress.

Prep Before Shopping

Sort promo emails like a pro. Email subscribers often score exclusive deals, but no one wants to scroll through a flooded inbox. Create an email account solely for these promos, then add filters for specific gifts. For example: If you want a deal on a new PlayStation, create a filter for the words "PlayStation 5" and "PS5" so emails with those terms get automatically forwarded to your regular inbox. —Anna Barker, personal finance expert and founder of LogicalDollar.

Track your spending easily. If you have an iPhone and iPad, use the Santa's Bag app (free; iOS) to store all your shopping lists in one place. Add everyone to your holiday list (via contacts or manually), then save links to the gifts they want. The app keeps a running tab of what you've spent as well as your budget, showing you how much you have left. —Kimberly Palmer, personal finance expert at NerdWallet

Budget with gift cards. Set a budget and purchase gift cards for that amount. When the balance hits zero, it's time to stop spending. —Colleen McCreary, chief people, places, and publicity officer at Credit Karma

Shop on Green Monday. That's when many retailers slash prices to sell off holiday inventory. It falls on the second Monday of December each year. (It's also called Cyber Monday 2.0.) You'll often see discounts of 25 to 50 percent, and it's one of the last days you can choose free standard shipping and get the items before Christmas. —Shannon Vissers, shopping analyst at Merchant Maverick

Time your purchases. Electronics are typically cheaper on Black Friday, while clothing tends to be more inexpensive on Cyber Monday. Fitness gear, activewear, and bedding are less expensive in January—so if someone on your list wants any of those, get them a gift card for the current retail price. That way, if they buy the item when it's discounted, they'll have some money left over. —Julie Ramhold, consumer analyst at DealNews.

Use store apps. Download the store's app before you shop. I've seen app-exclusive deals of 50 percent off or more. You can expect deals on Black Friday and Cyber Monday, but also check the apps on weekdays, when many stores offer app-exclusive flash sales. —Kristen Gall, president and shopping expert at Rakuten.

Apple Card's new savings account has a 4.15% interest rate- does it make sense for you?

In its bid to extend further into your wallet, Apple announced that Apple Card users can now set up a savings account with an impressive interest rate of 4.15%. In a press release, the technology behemoth said the account doesn't charge fees and there are no minimum balance or minimum deposit requirements in order to earn the high yield.

The account is certainly attractive and may make sense for current Apple Card holders. However, we don't recommend applying for the credit card just to chase its savings account high yield.

Apple's high-yield savings account: The details

The new account, offered by Goldman Sachs, is the type of savings product that tickles our fancy. First and foremost, the interest rate is competitive with the best savings accounts on the market. The 4.15% APY is, as Apple boasts in its press release, nearly 10 times the national average of 0.42% (as of June 2023).

How do I get an Apple savings account? continued.....

The account is designed to mesh seamlessly with the Apple Card\*, which is also backed by Goldman Sachs, and delivers 3% back on Apple and participating partners, 2% when using Apple Pay and 1% on all other purchases.

However, there is one big caveat to keep in mind: in order to be eligible for the account you must be, as the deposit agreement states, "An Owner or co-Owner of an Apple Card, as defined in the Apple Card Customer Agreement." To summarize: If you don't have an Apple Card, you won't be able to access this savings account.
